THE BEST GIFTS.

You can give no matter how poor you may be. There are many gifts that are in the power of all to bestow. The best thing to give your enemy, if you have one, is forgiveness, to an opponent tolerance, to a friend your heart, to your child a good example, to a father, deference, to a superior conduct that will make him proud of you, to yourself respect, to all men charity.

Good Points of the Arab.
Travelers ascribe to the Arabs many virtues, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. They are a proud and earnest people, sharp witted, courageous, temperate and hospitable, but when wronged are bloodthirsty and vengeful. One of their most striking characteristics is their great love for poetry. The children of the nomads as well as the offspring of the fellahs are early taught to read, write and calculate, as might be expected of the descendants of that race which gave us our Arabic numerals.

Gluten Flour.
Gluten is the most nutritive element in all flour made from grain, though it exists in larger proportion in some varieties of wheat than in others, and in hard wheat more than in soft. Gluten flour is flour from which the starch element has been wholly or partly removed, thereby bettering it for the use of diabetic patients.

Personal and Local Notes

Mrs. Wm. McCarthy and daughter Mrs. Rose of Anaheim are guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Thurst this week.

Miss Jewel Rankin returned on Wednesday from a four days visit with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Thomson and family at Redlands.

J. P. Rooksby has gone to Monrovia for the summer. As soon as school closes Miss Rooksby will join her father, planning to remain in one of their Monrovia cottages during the summer vacation.

Chas. Galloway is building a new house on Remmett avenue, just north of the Peake house. The work is being done by Mrs. Galloway's brother, L. Smith. The new house will cost about $1500 and will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Galloway as a home.

P. L. McCreary, B. S., agricultural chemist for the Pacific Sugar and Fertilizer Co. of Los Angeles, visited Owensmouth Friday. He was accompanied by E. E. Elkins of San Fernando, the valley agent for the company. They visited several potato growers with a view to introducing their fertilizers here.

The funeral of the late Chas. A. Bell was held at the family residence west of town on Friday last, the body being buried under a sycamore tree near the house, in accordance with the wishes of the deceased. The funeral arrangements were in charge of the Van Nuy's Undertaking Company. A beautiful floral piece was contributed by the business men of Owensmouth.

Street Engineer Walter Smith spent some time in Owensmouth on Thursday checking up the immediate needs of this end of the valley. He is well pleased with the repairs done on Workman by Road Foreman L. D. Pike and says Canoga will be similarly improved as soon as possible. Mr. Smith says conditions have arisen which necessitate the transfer of the Owensmouth street force to Universal City temporarily. It is imperative to do some asphalt work at that point and Mr. Pike is the only man in the valley who understands this class of work. Mr. Smith says this job will soon be completed, after which sufficient help will be put on at Owensmouth to make up for the lost time.

Card of Thanks
We wish to thank the many friends of Owensmouth who sympathized with us in our bereavement and thank the anonymous senders of the beautiful wreaths.

POSTPONED TO JULY 2

The Travel-talk on the Grand Canyon of the Colorado by Fred W. Prince has been postponed to Monday, July 2, in the hi school auditorium.

NEW BEAN CLEANING MACHINERY FOR THE WAREHOUSE

The Vanomar Producers announce the opening of their new offices in the upstairs room of the Owensmouth Warehouse.

All the bean and warehouse business will be handled from this office during the present season.

There was some discussion of building an addition to the bean warehouse, but the directors of the association later decided not to go to that expense this season, especially as they were fortunate in being able to lease the warehouse opposite the Southern Pacific depot.

The association has bought and will soon receive another set of bean cleaning machinery and this will be installed for handling this season's crop.

A team scale of 15 tons capacity will be installed at once to be used not only for weighing beans but for all public weighing.

The association purchased bags to the number of 130,000 early in the season and this alone represents a saving to the growers of better than $3000 at present bag quotations. The prices on bags are continually raising, several manufacturers being entirely sold out.

The twine situation is even more serious than that on bags; the association will have to order twine of three grades ranging in price from 40 cents to $1 per pound.

The prospects are that the association will be able to handle all the beans for the entire valley and the opinion is freely expressed that the directorate of the Vanomar Producers is to be thanked for not having burdened their members with the cost of additional warehouse buildings this season.

KEEP COOL AND PREPARE FOR BIG CROPS

Though it may not be stated upon every piece of machine made pressure concrete pipe that we make it for not having burdened their members with the cost of additional warehouse buildings this season. Owensmouth schools close next week and the excellent programs prepared for the various events of Commencement week will prove very attractive. Show your appreciation of our schools by attending these affairs.

The announcement that the difficulty of financing new enterprises prevents the Vanomar Producers carrying out the plans for needed betterments this season is a keen disappointment to all property owners in the valley. The unforeseen demand for money to carry on the war preparations makes it difficult to negotiate loans, hence the decision to postpone the improvements for a time.

This is National Red Cross Week and every person in this valley should join this organization and contribute to this worthy cause. The Red Cross affords an opportunity to ALL to assist in one of the most humanitarian movements the world has ever seen. No matter whether you are in sympathy with the war movement or not—the fact that WE are actually at war with the most inhuman nations on earth should impel every American to assist in the preparations to properly care for the American soldiers who will be wounded in the great conflict. Join the Red Cross TODAY!

BAD EYES MAKE BAD MEN.

Defective Vision is Often a Cause of Criminal Tendencies.

Defective eyesight frequently is the cause of criminal tendencies or moral delinquencies, according to Judge William H. Vadnans, who bases his belief upon a long period of observation as judge of the New York court of general sessions.

"Bad eyes make bad men," Judge Vadnans said in an address to the Society of Medical Jurisprudence.

"The man who cannot see straight cannot think straight and cannot act correctly," continued the jurist, as quoted in Case and Comment, a legal publication.

"When the nervous functions become disarranged the morals also are affected. One of the first steps the state should take in the correction of the criminals is careful examination and treatment of their eyes. A very large percentage of the men who appear before me for sentence are suffering from defective eyesight. I believe that their moral delinquencies largely to this cause."

The effect of ocular ailments upon delinquency was considered by the careful observer, Dr. William Healy, director of the Psychopathic Institute, juvenile court, Chicago, who states in his work, "The Juvenile Delinquent."

"In our estimation of causes of delinquency it appeared that defective vision could be regarded as either a major or minor factor in over 10 per cent of the delinquency, to be sure, was not perfect in many instances, but in these it was hardly to be regarded as any cause of the delinquency. There are several sides to the resultant effects of bad eyesight, so far as delinquency is concerned.

"Eye strain notoriously leads to irritability, discontent, headache, various feelings of bodily discomfort—all of which may be contributory to the individual's delinquency. Now, eye strain, it should be remembered, is not always to be measured readily by what the individual can see on a test chart.

"Defective vision may exist without strain, and strain may result from not readily discerned defects, such as astigmatism."

Squelched.

A Kansas City woman, says the Kansas City Times, tells this story of her husband:

"One morning he glanced at the dining room clock and said, 'We must be later than usual this morning.' 'Don't place too much confidence in that clock. It stopped at 5 o'clock, and I set it by guess,' replied the good wife. 'Were you up at 5 o'clock?' asked the husband. 'Of course not.' 'If you weren't up at 5,' replied the man, puzzled, 'how did you know when the clock stopped?' 'Why, dear, it stayed stopped,' was the reply. The man did not say another word that morning.

Florida's Big Spring.

The state of Florida has its full share of large and beautiful springs. Many of them form good sized streams from the beginning, and some are navigable.

The largest spring in the state, and one of the largest and probably the best known in the United States, is Silver Spring, which is located six miles east of Ocala. This spring forms the principal source of Oklawaha river, a tributary of the St. Johns, and steamboats traversing the river enter spring basin, which has an area of several acres. The water is from nine to thirty feet deep and wonderfully clear, appearing absolutely colorless.—Geological Survey.

Overlooking Great Captains.

If Russia missed the chance of enlisting Napoleon in her armies, France lost almost an important recruit a century earlier. In the French archives is a letter dated March 24, 1674, which reads: 'Sir—This letter will be handed to you by M. Churchill, whom I presented yesterday to His Most Christian Majesty as from the King of Great Britain, with a petition that he might be granted a commission as Colonel of Infantry in his majesty's service.' The M. Churchill in question was the future Duke of Marlborough.—London Chronicle.

Negotiable Instrument.

"What are you studying there?"

"Law."

"Try, ain't it?"

"Not when you like it. Just now I am learning all about negotiable instruments."

"I dunno much about law," said his roommate, "but I do know you are offered mighty little when you try to sell a mandolin."—Pittsburgh Post.

"Is your corner place finished yet?"

"Oh, yes. Why, I have already begun alterations on it."—Boston Transcript.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC RAILWAY

A MENTAL MYSTERY

By ALAN HINDALE

We have become used to an electric station sending forth its power across a continent or an ocean without any other medium than the atmosphere, but few of us are prepared to admit that one human brain is capable of affecting another human brain without any other medium than that of the wireless telegraph.

Nevertheless, there are instances of such communication. I believe that there is a mental force not yet explained scientifically that carries these messages, and I am going to give the reason why I have arrived at this conclusion.

I am an artist. From a child I have been absorbed in the beauties of nature and their transmission to another form. As a boy I could make these transformations so successful that my pictures attracted the attention of my friends. Nothing could do but that I must be educated for an artist.

But there was no means for the purpose. A younger sister of mine had been left a small legacy by her grandmother. My sister—Eleanor—was by no means inclined to devote this money to my education. I declined to accept it at first, but she insisted that I would be a successful artist, my pictures would sell at good prices, and I could repay her. Thus encouraged, I consented and entered an art school.

Unfortunately my education took from me the ability I had shown in my childhood drawing. The technique required for work that would pass the criticism was abandoned to me. Nevertheless, I persevered and mastered it. But I never regained the ability I had possessed to hit off something that delighted people.

I spent several years after being graduated at the art school painting pictures, which were no better than hundreds of other artists could paint. I regretted that I had accepted my sister's loan, for it was scarcely able to make a minimum money to keep body and soul together, to say nothing of paying what I had borrowed.

One winter I looked down in health and in the spring was told I must have change of scene and air to build up my strength. In my weakened condition my debt to my sister got on my mind, and I could not get it off. Eleanor begged me to stop worrying about it, but without success. I was sent to the seashore and lodged in a fisherman's cottage.

One morning I was sitting on the porch of the cottage looking out on the sea. The sun was glistening the blue waves which were rolling in and breaking on the beach. Some fishermen were getting out their boat, sails were being lifted and billows overhead, one occasionally darting down to plunge upon a fish. I was seized with a desire—natural to an artist—to portray this scene.

I had not been permitted to bring my artist's tools with me, so I could not do as I wished. As I sat in a comfortable wicker chair, fanned by a balmy sea breeze, I began to work over an imaginary canvas, laying down on it the view before me. The picture grew in my mind as plainly as if I were really painting it on canvas. I worked without effort or at least seemed to do so, and was conscious of transcending the scene before me exactly as it was without the loss of any of its artistic beauties.

Nevertheless there must have been a severe mental effort, for as soon as I had finished my imaginary or mental work, I lost consciousness and knew nothing till late in the afternoon, when I found myself in bed.

It was some time before I gained sufficient strength to go home. When I returned my sister told me that there was no further necessity for me to worry about my debt to her, for it had been paid. I asked her who had paid it, and she said that I had paid it myself. Further than that she would give me no information until I had fully recovered.

When I had got stronger I went, unbeknown to any one, to a room at home that I had used for a studio. There was a desk in it, and, going to this desk without any definite object, I noticed a pile of letters that had been empty was now full of letters. I took them out and found they were letters that had accumulated during my illness. I opened one and read it. It was from a dealer in pictures asking me if I had any of my work for sale. He had a constant demand for it. Angrily, I opened another and another. They were all requests for my pictures.

While I was thus engaged my sister came in. She seemed much put out that I had come upon the letters. But the explanation was now come out, and she gave it to me.

One morning while I was at the seashore she had come into my studio and something, she knew not what, had prompted her to sit down before my easel, take my implements and begin to sketch. She had no ability, whatever as an artist and was astonished to see a marine view grow on the canvas. Nevertheless, when she had finished she had no idea that she had produced a marvelous picture.

Her production was admired, and, attaching my name to it, she took it to a dealer, who sold it for $20,000. I went unthinkingly to see the painting, and what was my astonishment to see that it was the scene with the fisherman painted while she had been painting the picture.

All this I thought.

A late pedestrian on Dartmouth street was approached by two raggy looking fellows, with this greeting from one of the other men: "giving you a little slab of wood stolen from a lumber pile."

"Say, feller, me and my partner was a-plannin' on planked steel. We got th' plank, 'ud all we ast of you if a stake?" Boston Advertiser.

On Friday, South Boston.

A member of the South Boston Yacht club took his little daughter out to walk the other day. Her father answered all her questions. Her father answered most of them, but when this one came along he was completely stuck.

"Papa," asked the little girl, "when the tide falls what does it fall on?" Exchange.

GREED OF NATIONS

MEN are unnatural because they eat unnatural food. A system that makes men with food will soon employ other means to destroy. Unnatural life is destructive of natural life in order that the unnatural life may live. The producers and exploiters of unnatural foods are intent to destroy the men that fall the truth of the world's innocent; as the Germans thought if they could only get the other nations out of the way they could have commensal food and take of themselves. The strangest thing is that all of our youngest, most honest men are taken to protect a system of world wide robbery. Nobody will escape, not even the dumb animals. The plants and soil also, are systematically robbed to satiate the greed.

The only way to make men natural is to feed and propagate them on natural foods. There is too much manufacturing, and cooking, and cold storage, and packing and so forth going on. Scarcely any kind of food finds its way to the consumer before some capitalist that owns a factory gets it and raises death with it and then passes it on through a long string of dealers so that each one can take his turn in securing a ransom. They've got it reduced to a perfect system so that the producer of food is to serve the manufacturer and exploiter more than to satisfy the needs of the hungry.

The only way to health, or to preserve health, is to eat your food right directly from the earth, to thrive growing plants, or trees. They've got it reduced to a system too much by tobacco, canisters, and whiskey jugs. They're rotten at the core. They've actually become too filthy to live. The blood is composed of copper, iron, phosphor and salt-petre, the substances most used to adulterate and sofilify perishable foods.

If we had natural foods they produce cold and if we eat cold food it produces heat, and if the heat is supplied with water the water carries the heat with it and then in the shape of round cells but lacking water the acids stay in the system and form spines.

The spine in cactus are caused by lack of water; it is the stings of bees; and dry weather also increases their venom. A few trees and plants which grow in arid locations are so overworked dry gas out of the air and produce thorns or spines. Meats or cold foods increases the gas in the blood which they take; it is the stings of bees; and dry weather also increases their venom. A few trees and plants which grow in arid locations are so overworked dry gas out of the air and produce thorns or spines. Meats or cold foods increases the gas in the blood which they take; it is the stings of bees; and dry weather also increases their venom.

It is held together by capillary action of its particles toward each other; and gas destroys this attracting force; and as the blood flows more easily through the arteries and veins the heart gets weaker. Meats and cooked food cause the skin to take in gas from the air and use it in vegetables and fruits cause the skin to give off carbonic acid and this disease is strong enough to kill the disease germs before they can reach the body. It has eating in its nature.

Eating foods raw causes the digestive ferment to begin at 00, as that is where the heat and cold are exactly balanced. The cells are divided into equal halves for an indefinite length of time, but other ferments of digestion where the cells have been thrown out of the balance of heat and cold begin with heat out of the air and increase by spores, or seeds; and the seeds continue to degenerate and grow and form more of themselves.

Acid that is balanced in heat and cold can digest and reorganize cells but where the element of cold is lacking the flesh and other necessary organs and tissues are dissolved. As soon as the cells lack cold they turn yellow and then animal germs and microbes begin to get on the surface of the work of destroying the body.

ACT AS WELL AS WISH.

Good wishes are well, but good actions are better. Anybody can wish to live well. Almost everybody does. Even a criminal at times desires goodness, but he does not carry the wish into act, and that is why he remains a criminal. It is not a faint wish, but a lifelong struggle that makes us valiant.

Perian Wisdom.

Do not talk about repentance to me. What is the use of regret? Fatehood tells you repent; truth says love only. Whatever was alien to God remains not. Shut off all remembrance from yourself. We are embarrassed by traditions on our way. Speak not about the past; live in the shadow of love, and let everything else pass on.

by the high school. Rev. Watson is the chairman of the committee that established the plan of the present Community Church. He is a preacher of splendid parts and all should hear him.

The pupils of the third, fourth and fifth grades enjoyed a party last Friday afternoon at the grammar school. A room on the second floor was nicely decorated by the children and the time was pleasantly spent in playing games. The girls of Mr. Qzard's room assisted Miss Hall in serving the refreshments.

NOTICE TO IRRIGATORS!

Water service for irrigation is to be for continuous service, night and day, until delivery of the amount applied for is complete. This is made necessary by the reason that the mains are all designed for continuous flow service and if irrigators use water during the day time only, it necessarily follows that the pipe system would have to be doubled in capacity. Hence, in making application for water, the irrigator will state when he wants his term to begin and the approximate time at which he desires it to end, always assuming continuous use.

The foregoing is effective on and after this date.

WM. MULHOLAND,
 Chief Engineer.
