SIX YEARS AGO TODAY (Items Republished from The Gazette)...

The Elliott Grant ranch furnished the meat for the big barbecue last Saturday.

C. B. Sessmith is erecting a fine $1500 residence east of town on Sherman Way.

The American Red Star company has many caterpillar plows at work all over the valley preparing the soil to plant about 12,000 acres of beets.

Mrs. A. T. Gallow, proprietress of the Owensmouth Cafe, is meeting every evening. Last Sunday over one hundred people were served at luncheon.

We are sorry to say that for a few days the office of The Gazette is "under our hat," but there is to be a paper soon. For the present the paper is being printed in Los Angeles.

S. D. Thurston, postmaster pro tem, is making preparations for installing the necessary postoffice furniture and equipment so the public may have same privileges as later towns.

W. L. Thompson has installed an auto race between Owensmouth and Newbury Park by Cornell. He will make four round trips per week—Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

BRIEF REMINISCENCE... One of the leading spirits in and around Owensmouth when the town was an infant in swaddling clothes was "Judge" Charley Bell...

Judge Bell was a good lawyer, a fair man and besides his legal business he kept a pretty ranch near Calabasas of 115 acres, also found time to farm several hundred acres in the valley back of Owensmouth...

OUT OF MANY RADES RED CROSS MAKES ONE

ONE of the greatest services which the Red Cross is performing in this war is the unification of the many races of which America is composed. Through the Home Service, which, through its 10,000 committees, is looking after the welfare of the people of America, has always been a melting pot, and now, in this process has been slow. The war has accelerated it. The influx of the many races of the world, the Italian and Eastern Europeans of our industrial centers, the Mexicans of the Southwest, the Armenians and Swedes and Norwegians and Japanese and Irishmen, all are now united under one flag, and were whole heartedly in the war because it was America's war and they are Americans.

That they feel this is patent to those who have seen and talked with those men. Witness the Italian, who in the assembly hall of one of our mobilization camps was visiting with a group of his fellows to take the oath of allegiance. He stepped forward suddenly with tears in his eyes and with a vivid gesture greeted a corner of the American flag that hung over the desk in front of him by his lips. A group of native born soldiers who had been looking on with amused indifference broke into applause and cheer. These are the Italian war veterans their brother Americans.

Such work as this is valuable not only for the morale of the men; it is binding the nation into one organic whole as it has never been bound before. To give concrete expression to this is the Red Cross plan through its Christmas Roll Call, to be held the week beginning December 16, to increase its membership from 22,000,000 to the limit of available membership. It asks to give in this way an answer to the world that every American, irrespective of creed or birth, stands equally and unaccountably for the principles for which we have been fighting—that America is a land of freemen pledged solemnly for honor and glory and good faith.

SICK FOLKS HUSTLE FOR THE RED CROSS

Through the National Tuberculosis Association and the Journal of the Outdoor Life, its official magazine, a campaign is being organized to get tuberculosis patients of the country to enlist every fellow "cure chaser" as a member of the Red Cross for its special Christmas Roll Call. Special campaigns have been organized in all of the large sanatoriums, of which there are nearly 60 scattered throughout the United States. Efforts will be made to recruit one hundred per cent. in each institution and also patients and enroll them as well. Every patient in the sanatorium will be responsible to get one more patient. The movement will be a contribution of the tuberculosis patients of the country to the Red Cross.

Since the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated agencies are being supported by the Red Cross through direct appropriation during the year 1919, this effort of the tuberculosis patients is considered to be a unusually appropriate one.

RED CROSS CARRIES TONS OF FOOD TO BELGIANS

American Red Cross trucks are constantly in action along the Belgian front. This report of the work of these trucks was recently received by the Commission for Belgium.

"In the last two weeks we handled 240 tons of foodstuffs and a large quantity of salvaged material. We have been saving the lives of people in the beleaguered towns, Furnes, Abbeville, Courde, La Panne, Alvering, Brice-Dunouch, the Trappist Farm, St. Jean-le-Bien and Beldinghast, and on several occasions when work was in progress in the last named it has been shelled, but fortunately with out injuries to trucks or drivers."

For Better Drinking Water. Because of the necessity for better drinking water in Italy the American Red Cross is manufacturing and distributing plants which are to be turned over to the Italian military authorities at home and used according to their discretion.

RED CROSS AIDS FARMING IN ITALY

Through efforts of the American Red Cross scientists farming is now being taught the younger generation of Italy, thus eliminating considerable waste and replacing old-fashioned implements with modern American-made machinery.

Schools of agriculture have been established, and the Department of Civil Affairs of the American Red Cross co-operating with a similar Italian organization, known as the "Comitato per gli Orti di Costantini Mori Lu Oratori," has opened a school of farming, conducted by Stefano Paterno, in fields just outside the Villa Furina, one of the historic villages of Rome.

The boys of the school, all orphans of peasant soldiers, are given training in scientific and practical farming, the object being to strengthen their attachment to the soil, also to convert them into good and intelligent farmers. Lectures and classroom instruction are accompanied by field work with modern tools under the direct supervision of the younger brothers of the institution, who work side by side with the boys in the fields, teaching and demonstrating.

BISHOP JOHN J. O'CONNOR TELLS OF RED CROSS APPEAL

Bishop John J. O'Connor of Newark thus expresses his approval of the Red Cross Christmas roll call:

"A citizen of the United States can offer no valid excuse for failure to enroll himself in the American Red Cross Society. An organization which offers great principle in humanity has the right to call all men to its standard. The Red Cross speaks to the common human in us. It aims at giving life, life which symbolizes and justifies every sane practical duty. The world has waited a long time for an organization which could give to vague feelings of sympathy wide, practical application. The American Red Cross fulfills every requirement of a truly humanitarian association. It accepts only universally admitted principles. It limits its operations to no particular class. It sides with no party. It asks of its members but two things—that they have pity on suffering whomever found and that they have the will to relieve humanity."

"The appeal of the Red Cross for an increased membership should be instantly heeded. The man who fails to heed this call shames himself, outrages his pale. He does not feel with his native land. He is not one with his kind. Here is our opportunity to join in a work which gives to religion and its teaching present vitality and new status on the rolls of the American Red Cross."

WHY AMERICA NEEDS CHRISTMAS ROLL CALL

George E. Scott, general manager of the American Red Cross, thus explains the necessity for the Christmas Roll Call:

"The response that the people of the United States make when the Christmas Roll Call summons them to a universal membership in the American Red Cross will, if that response is on the side, accomplish these things:— "It will give exalted purpose and high resolve to the Soldiers and Sailors of America. "It will give encouragement and renewed vitality to those who are working here at home. "It will give inspiration and courage to those of our people who are laboring overseas."

When the Soldiers Are Getting Well.

The convalescent soldiers are being cared for in Italy by the American Red Cross. There are sixteen hospitals already in operation since twenty-one others in process of construction. At these hospitals, in addition to the care of their wounds and their general health, the soldiers are being taught useful trades. There are typewriters, sewing machines and tools for cabinet making at each hospital, and the soldiers find that, in addition to applying their hands with a useful trade when they are well, the use of these "tools" gives them hours of pleasure during the tedious period of getting well.

An additional incentive is given to the Tournament. Pasadena New Year's day by reason of the fact that the gorgeous floral pageant is to be combined with an impressive peace celebration, in which all Southern California will participate. It is to be called the Victory Tournament of 1920.

One of the strongest endorsements of successful poultry raising came to us this week from G. P. Thomas, of the Holden Hardware Co. He has a record of eleven hens and laid Saturday he gathered ten eggs. These hens being laying before they were twelve old, and have set a very good average since. Mr. Thomas is quite enthusiastic over his get-up and he has reasons to, but it is not the hundreds of eggs which do it if they go at it right. The feed for the hens consists of one cup of wheat and five are Anonas and six are Rhode Island Reds.

P. P. THOMAS

Mr. P. P. Thomas spent Sunday in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Etta Hallow of Los Angeles was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Thomas, this week.

Leslie Dale and Edith McDonald spent a few days with the latter's grandparents on the Little Rock. Some very interesting experiences were related upon their return, especially when encountered by a large swarm of locusts.

DURCO-JERRY HOGS SCORE HONORS AT FAIR

Once more the Durco-Jerry hogs of the Creamer & Ireland ranch, just west of Owensmouth, have stepped into the limelight as champions. A large amount of prizes at Liberty Fair. Mr. M. Graham, manager, was the smiles last Saturday when seen at the fair.

For the finest decorated and cleanly arranged exhibit, this exhibit carried off first prize, which in addition to the $1000 prize, he had the honor of showing over made from San Francisco.

Irelana's Orion Defender, for junior boy yearlings, was given first prize. Irelana's Cardinal Moid, junior boar pig, was given first prize, also reserve grand champion. Senior boar, Jerry Val 2nd, who took grand champion last year, was awarded to an accident which showed a defect, was given third prize at Liberty Fair.

In the junior sow pig, Irelana's Maid took first prize and junior champion. In the class, also selected as champion, Cardinal's Moid 1st prize in the same same category. In the junior yearling boar, Irelana's Cardinal King was third prize. In the product of sow entry, required in this contest, first prize was Durco-Jerry were first again; also got an extra in the junior herd contest of same gender, first prize was scored.

In open class herd, only showing at the fair, they had to be classed as first prize.

RED CROSS SUNDAY

The Red Cross Christmas Roll Call week begins with a special Red Cross program on December 28th. From every pulpit throughout the country will be told the message of the American Red Cross. Special programs should be arranged in the Sunday Schools on this date.

The Sunday School room should flame with Red Cross posters and emblems, and there should be prominently displayed both a Red Cross flag and Red Cross service. Teachers and pupils should carry home this Red Cross message to the members of their families and see to it that each one of these is wearing the Red Cross emblem on their belt and in their pocket. The Christmas spirit should express itself in Red Cross service and sacrifice.
