August Price Reductions

During the latter part of July and so far this month, we have reduced prices on many of the important staples, including sugar, milk, syrup, canned fish, breakfast foods, flour, heavy, peasant butter, etc. We believe that the low price point has been reached on a great many of these items, and sugar has already made two advances within the past ten days and higher prices are expected. Canned fruits are advancing, and the exceptionally low prices of the early summer are a thing of the past.
